

EDU - 498 Literacy as Social Practice
Teaching and Curriculum
Course Syllabus
Summer A 2026
May 19th- June 25th

Professor: Alyse Cunzio
Email: Acunzio@u.rochester.edu
Office: Zoom by Appointment

Class Schedule: Tuesdays and Thursdays 4:50pm-8:10 pm
Class Location: Online only
Zoom Location: Zoom 994 3344 1165

Academic Integrity: Integrity of academic work is a central value at the University of Rochester. Upholding academic integrity is a responsibility of all members of the university community, including graduate students. Cheating, forgery, plagiarism and collusion in dishonest acts undermine the educational mission of the University of Rochester and the students' personal and intellectual growth. Please see University Graduate Student Regulations and Policies and Warner Policies for Students for additional information.

Accessibility and Accommodations: The University of Rochester respects and welcomes students of all backgrounds and abilities. In the event you encounter any barrier(s) to full participation in this course due to the impact of a disability, please contact the Office of Disability Resources. The access coordinators in the Office of Disability Resources can meet with you to discuss the barriers you are experiencing and explain the eligibility process for establishing academic accommodations. You can reach the Office of Disability Resources at: disability@rochester.edu; (585) 276-5075; Taylor Hall.

If you need accommodations or academic support you are also warmly encouraged to connect with me. I am committed to making our learning environment accessible, adaptable, and student-centered, and am eager to engage with you about ways your learning experience can be shaped to suit your needs and strengths. Though I would appreciate talking about your individual needs at the start of the semester, please never hesitate to talk with me about personal accessibility needs at any point throughout the course. I recognize that needs can change as circumstances often do.

AI Usage: Consistent with UR guidelines for the use of AI in education, Warner recognizes that AI could provide valuable tools for you as a student - provided that you use AI in ways that assist/ enhance rather than replace learning, you verify the accuracy and appropriateness of AI-generated products, and you meet UR policies about data privacy and confidentiality. We also believe it is our responsibility to prepare future educators who can use AI effectively, safely and ethically in their work, and that can empower their students to do the same. This needs to start with ensuring that AI is used in appropriate ways by Warner students in all our courses, while also recognizing that what constitutes appropriate use will depend on the specific tasks students are asked to perform - and most importantly, the learning goals of each task. Therefore, each course instructor is expected to determine when and how AI can be used in their course, and to make this expectation explicit to students.

In this course, given its scope and learning goals, students are welcomed to use AI tools to support their learning and completion of course assignments UNLESS explicitly prohibited by the instructor for a specific task. We expect students to use their judgement to ensure that their chosen use of AI supports rather than replaces/reduces their learning, and also ask that students disclose their use of AI in specific assignments, briefly describing how AI was used. Guidelines will be provided.

For additional guidance and resources, please refer to the Allowable Uses of AI document.

Class Format: This course is an Online course, We meet for a combination of Synchronously Online classes and Asynchronous Classes. A course schedule is available on Blackboard and detailed below in the Module Calendar. If a serious conflict arises that prohibits you from attending class in the designated format, please communicate with me in advance. We will navigate excused absences on a case-by-case basis.

Course Description: Assists students in the construction of a comprehensive theoretical framework for understanding and examining the nature of literacy learning in the 21st century. Examines theories of literacy learning and learning more generally, while also addressing current debates in the field of literacy. Challenges students to rethink their definitions of what counts as literacy and their understanding of how people learn. This course is required by all master's candidates seeking initial and professional certification and is recommended for doctoral students interested in language and literacy research. The course also develops competencies required by the International Literacy Association (ILA) Standards for Reading Specialist/Literacy Coach through assignments, readings, and class activities.

Course Communication: As an online course, a reliable and stable internet connection is a requirement. A significant portion of communication in this course is conducted through announcements and emails. You are responsible for attending to your emails and staying connected to the course throughout the week.

Instructor Communication Commitment: I commit to responding to your emails within 24 hours.

Please see the Regulations and University Policies Concerning Graduate Studies handbook:
<https://www.rochester.edu/GradBulletin/PDFbulletin/Regulations.pdf>

Disclaimer: This is a living document and subject to change at any time throughout the semester at the discretion of the Instructor in relation to how the needs of class evolve and change.

Grade Appeal Policy: Upon receiving graded material, please take time to read my comments and the directions for the assignment. I encourage revisions to your work and am committed to always providing you the opportunity to revise if you are dissatisfied with your result. If you are concerned about the grade you have earned, you are welcome to write a grade appeal and plan to discuss the matter. Grade appeals (with complete justification for concern) must be submitted to me in writing within one week of the return of the assignment. After the one-week period has passed, grade appeals will not be considered.

Land Acknowledgment: The University of Rochester sits on the homelands of the Onöndowa'g:a' (Seneca) Nation, the "Great Hill People" and "Keepers of the Western Door" of the Haudenosaunee Confederacy. As an institution, we recognize the injustices that disrupt their stewardship of this land to this day. We honor and respect these lands and the Onöndowa'g:a' people's ongoing claims and connections to them. This course takes place on the ancestral lands of Indigenous peoples. Acknowledging this is just one step in our collective responsibility to address the ongoing impacts of colonization and systemic racism. It is vital to go beyond acknowledgment and actively work towards fostering stronger relationships with Indigenous communities, supporting Indigenous-led research, and creating opportunities for collaboration, education, and cultural competency. As we strive to implement these actions, we are called to reflect on our role in rectifying historical injustices and advancing a more inclusive and just community.

Office Hours: By appointment. I am happy to meet to accommodate your scheduling needs.

Online Etiquette, Anti-Discrimination and Harassment Policy: The University strictly prohibits the use of University online resources or facilities, including Blackboard, for the purpose of harassment of any individual or for the posting of any material that is scandalous, libelous, offensive or otherwise against the University's policies. Please see: <https://www.rochester.edu/policies/policy/discrimination-harassment/> and report an issue to the Office of Equity and Inclusion at uofr.us/padh-report.

Required Readings: All readings and resources will be available as hyperlinks over Blackboard. There is one required text Cultivating Genius by Dr. Gholdy Muhammad.

Title IX: Title IX: All members of the University community have the right to learn and work in a safe environment free from all forms of harassment, including harassment on the basis of sex or gender. The University does not tolerate any form of discrimination or harassment (including sexual assault, dating and domestic violence, stalking) based on protected characteristics (e.g., race, disability, ethnicity, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, religion, pregnancy, etc.) or related retaliation (i.e., Prohibited Conduct).

All faculty and Teaching Assistants are considered Mandatory Reporters by the University, which means that if they observe or learn of Prohibited Conduct, they are obligated to immediately share that information with the University's Title IX Office. This obligation, grounded in law and policy, is designed to protect the safety of students and the broader University of Rochester community, as well as ensure that students receive information about available supportive measures and resolution options to enable them to make informed choices. Students who have been subjected to sexual harassment, including sexual assault, dating/domestic violence or stalking, have the right to receive academic, housing, transportation or other supportive measures, to receive counseling and health services and to make a report about such behavior to the University and to law enforcement.

- Contact Professor Carol St. George, Deputy Title IX Coordinator; cstgeorge@Warner.rochester.edu (585) 275-0967; LeChase Hall 454
- Contact the Title IX Office directly (titleix@rochester.edu or 585-275-1654), without sharing any personal information. For more information please visit www.rochester.edu/sexualmisconduct.

If you are pregnant, have recently experienced childbirth, and/or have medical needs related to childbirth, please contact the Title IX Office for assistance.

Technical Support: Visit this web site for information on obtaining technical support with Blackboard: <https://tech.rochester.edu/services/learning-management-system/>

UR Care Services: The CARE Network enables members of the University community to express their concern about a person, incident, or issue. If you are concerned about another student or yourself, please visit UR Care Network to make a referral: <https://www.rochester.edu/care/>. The University Counseling Center is also available for appointments and consultation for all U of R students (585) 275-3113.

Course Overview

This course explores the expansive definitions of literacy, examining it as a multi-dimensional concept that encompasses more than traditional reading and writing. Grounded in Gholdy Muhammad's framework, the course is structured to build our collective understanding of literacy's broader social, cultural, political, and digital contexts, focusing on its role as a tool for empowerment, identity formation, social justice and liberation.

Each week, the course deepens our engagement with Muhammad's framework, gradually unfolding the five pursuits of joy, identity, skills, intellect, and criticality. We will begin by reflecting on our own literacy narratives, considering how our personal experiences with literacy shape our identity. As the course progresses, we will explore literacy as a social and skill-building practice, focusing on the intellectual development necessary to navigate different literacy forms, such as digital and culturally responsive literacies.

By mid-course, we will critically analyze literacy's intersections with power, identity, and agency, examining how literacy practices are influenced by and influence social and political structures. In doing so, we will connect historical developments in literacy with contemporary practices.

The course culminates in a literacy pursuit project that draws directly from Muhammad's framework, encouraging us to integrate the five pursuits of joy, identity, skills, intellect, and criticality, into professional literacy practice. Through this final project, each student will apply their learning to create an individual mini-unit that promotes self-determination, empowerment, and social change embodying the pursuits of joy, identity, skills, intellect and criticality.

Course Learning Objectives:

1. Analyze Literacy as a Social Practice: Critically analyze the social, cultural, and political dimensions of literacy, examining how it functions as a tool for both empowerment and marginalization across various historical and contemporary context
2. Synthesize Theory into Equitable Design: Integrate the diverse range of theories explored throughout the course to design instructional materials that promote criticality, intellect, and social change
3. Evaluate the Intersections of Power and Identity: Reflect on how personal and community literacy narratives shape individual identity, collective agency, and social change

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Construct a Reflective Literacy Narrative: Produce a narrative that compares personal literacy journeys with community experiences to understand the broader societal implications of literacy
2. Execute a Joy-Oriented Literacy Project: Create a project that embodies self-determination and liberation, designed to be shared with an authentic audience to promote social change.
3. Critique Literacy as a Mechanism of Power: Conduct a critical analysis of a social justice issue to evaluate how language accessibility and literacy levels influence public discourse and community empowerment.
4. Design a Responsive Mini-Unit: Develop a comprehensive, culturally and historically responsive literacy mini-unit that demonstrates the ability to engage learners through meaningful, identity-focused instruction.

Grading Scale

Grading in this course aims to dismantle oppressive grading structures and empower students to fully engage with learning to learn instead of merely regurgitating information for a grade. I encourage you to take risks in this class, engage in the content in a way that is playful, joyful and meaningful for you and the community you engage within. While an anti-oppressive grading structure may be new and unfamiliar territory for you please know that I will prioritize effort, engagement, creativity, and collaboration. I commit to providing constructive and critical evaluations of your contributions and products. Assignments will have rubrics provided so you understand if you are or are not meeting the standards. You will always be provided an opportunity to revise work that does not fully meet the assignment requirements. Throughout the course, desired learning outcomes, attendance as well as engagement will be tracked and you will receive feedback on your contributions.

Every student begins as an A student in this class. You maintain the A throughout the semester by putting in the effort, engaging and demonstrating understandings in assignments, discussions and group work. You will receive a standard letter grade at the end of the semester based on your ability to uphold the grading contract. Each aspect of the course does have correlating points you maintain in relation to a total of 100 possible points that equates to the letter grade A.

Please refer to the below breakdown for potential ways that your A could be impacted.

- Excessive absences (2 or more classes)
- Missing more than 2 discussion board initial posts/comments
- Submitting any assignment after an agreed upon deadline.
- Missing any of the major course assignments.
- Declining to revise work that does not meet the defined expectations

Instructor Grading Commitment: All assignments will be graded within 1 week of submission

Grading Scale:

A	100-94
A-	93-90
B +	89-87
B	86-83
B-	82-80
C	79-70
E	69-0

Course Assignments

Course Engagement (40 points):

(In class participation (24 points), Peer feedback (4 points), Discussion Boards (12 points; 2pts each):

As a graduate level, 3 credit consolidated course expect to invest 9-12 hours x2 a week on course work and readings. I will aim to provide choice, variety and depth to cultivate understanding. When there are more than 50 pages in a week, I will provide choice in the content you select from the range. The expectation will be that you have invested the time in yourself and that investment will reflect in your discussion board contributions and in class engagement. 6 times throughout the semester you will respond to a prompt in the discussion board regarding the readings. The use of AI is not permissible for this assignment. You will sign up for a group for when to post. Sign up here. When posting, I am asking you to highlight 3 quotes, pose 2 questions and make 1 connection to practice. We will then reserve a portion of the class time to discuss recurring themes from the discussion board/readings further. There will be a number of peer feedback sessions assignments which are meant to drive the collective capabilities of the group via meaningful, progress oriented feedback. Guidelines will be provided.

(ILA Standards 1.1-1.3; 2.1-2.3; 4.1-4.4; 5.1-5.2)

Literacy Narratives (10 points):

This assignment invites students to explore their personal and community literacy experiences. The literacy narrative encourages students to reflect on their own literacy journey, comparing it with the experiences of a community member, while also considering literacy's broader societal implications, fostering growth and critical thinking through reflection. The use of AI is not permissible for this assignment.

(ILA Standards 2.2; 4.2-4.4; 5.1; 6.2)

Joy-Oriented Literacy Pursuit (10 points) :

Students will create and share a literacy-based project that embodies joy, love, and aesthetic fulfillment. Inspired by personal interests, the literacy pursuit will promote liberation, self-determination, and empowerment while being shared with an authentic audience. Students will then reflect on the creation process, their experience of joy and fulfillment, and the connection between their project and course concepts. The assignment encourages creativity and critical engagement with literacy as a tool for social change and future teaching practice. AI can be used per permissible guidelines above however APA citation required.

(ILA Standards 2.2; 5.1; 6.2-6.3)

Literacy as Power: Bridging Social Justice and Critical Communication (10 points) Option to complete this as a group project:

In this assignment, students will explore the intersection of literacy and social justice by critically analyzing how literacy influences the communication of a chosen social justice issue. Through research, case study analysis (campaign, article, or initiative), and reflection, students will assess the accessibility of language used in public discourse, propose strategies to improve communication across literacy levels, and reflect on the importance of literacy in empowering communities. This project encourages students to engage deeply with the concept of critical literacy as a tool for social change, drawing from their own experiences and observations. AI can be used per permissible guidelines above however APA citation required.

(ILA Standards 2.2; 4.2-4.4; 5.1; 6.2)

Culturally-Historically Responsive Literacy Mini-Unit (25 points mini unit + 5 points in class presentation =30 points):

This culminating assignment asks students to design a mini-unit that integrates the insights gained throughout the course. Using Gholdy Muhammad’s four pursuits—identity, skills, intellect, and criticality—along with the pursuit of joy, students will create culturally and historically responsive literacy lessons. The assignment requires students to apply course concepts by designing lesson plans, creating a sample student assignment, and reflecting on their learning. This project serves as a final assessment of their ability to engage students in meaningful, equity-aligned literacy practices, making it a comprehensive demonstration of the knowledge and skills developed during the course. AI can be used per permissible guidelines above however APA citation required.

(ILA Standards 2.1-2.3; 3.2; 4.2-4.3; 5.2, 5.4)

Assignment Calendar

Module 1: Establishing Our Learning Community
Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings Delivery: Synchronous Online	Demonstrations of Learning
Precourse	Course overview of Syllabus and Assignments Black Board Ultra Explore Course Overview and Syllabus
Week 1 5/19 Synch. Online	Establishing Our Brave Classroom Space Arao, B., & Clemens, K. (2013). From safe spaces to brave spaces. In The art of effective facilitation: Reflections from social justice educators , pp. 135-150. hooks, bell. (1994). Engaged Pedagogy (pgs. 13-22) In Teaching to Transgress . Routledge. Watch: Inoue, A. B. (2019, 14 March). 2019 Chair’s address: How do we language so people stop killing each other, or what do we do about white language supremacy? [Video]. YouTube. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=brPGTewcDYY (46:23)	Engagement in readings and digital content Complete Syllabus Annotation (Asynch. Class 1) In class participation Harmonize Discussion Board group A and B

	Safe Spaces are Not Enough. 2019 Jama Shelton, PhD, True Colors United, offers a few compelling reasons why we might need to reconsider what we mean by “safe space.” Not only that – we should also push back against the idea that safe spaces are solutions in and of themselves.
Module 2: Building Strong Foundations Weeks 1-2 Delivery: In Person
Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings	Demonstrations of Learning
Week 1 5/21 Synch. Online	Defining Literacies Love, B. (2020). Forward. & Muhammad, G. (2020). Introduction & Chapter 1. pp. 6-37. Mackey, M. (2020). Who reads what, in which formats, and why? In E. B. Moje et al. (Eds.) Handbook of Reading Research, Volume V (pp. 99-115). R. Bishop (1990) Mirrors, Windows, and Sliding Glass Doors Souto-Manning, M., & Yoon, H. S. (2018). Ch. 3: Multiple literacies and language competencies across young children’s social contexts. In Rethinking early literacies: Reading and rewriting worlds (pp. 57-82). Routledge. Watch: Mirrors, Windows and Sliding Glass Doors (01:33)	Engagement in readings and digital content Discussion Board Engagement (Don’t forget your group) In class participation Literacy Narrative Due May 24th 11:59 pm EST
Week 2 5/26 Asynch.	Towards the Pursuit of Joy Unearthing Joy: A Guide to Culturally and Historically responsive Curriculum Chapter 2 Activating Joy Through Culturally and Historically Responsive Read-Alouds

	Choose one : Unfolding joy in young children's literacy practices in a Finnish early years classroom Activating Joy and Hope in Critical Literacies Instruction: Responding Pedagogically to Youth Skepticism in a YPAR Project
Week 2 5/28 Synch. Online	Culturally _____ Pedagogies Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 2. pp. 38-61. Paris, D., & Alim, H. S. (2014). What are we seeking to sustain through culturally sustaining pedagogy? A loving critique forward. Harvard Educational Review, 84(1), 85-100. Strekalova-Hughes, E., & Wang, X. C. (2019). Perspectives of children from refugee backgrounds on their family storytelling as a culturally sustaining practice. Journal of Research in Childhood Education, 33(1), 6-21. Ladson-Billings, G. (2021). Three Decades of Culturally Relevant, Responsive, & Sustaining Pedagogy: What Lies Ahead? The Educational Forum, 85(4), 351–354. Watch: Gorman, A. (2021, January 20). The hill we climb. [Video]. The Guardian. (5:43) Truth, Love & Racial Literacy 2022. Yolanda Sealey-Ruiz discusses the power of racial literacy development, and why truth, love, and an Archaeology of Self are required when educating Black and Brown students.
Module 3: Exploring New Literacies Week 3
Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings	Demonstrations of Learning
Week 6/2 Synch. Online	Digital & Media Literacy Choose 3 of 6 Readings	Engagement in readings and digital content

	Knobel, M., & Lankshear, C. (2014). Studying new literacies. Journal of Adolescent & Adult Literacy, 58(2), 97-101 Price-Dennis, D., Holmes, K. A., & Smith, E. (2015). Exploring digital literacy practices in an inclusive classroom. The Reading Teacher, 69(2), 195-205. Stornaiuolo, A., & Thomas, E. E. (2017). Disrupting educational inequalities through youth digital activism. Review of Research in Education, 41(1), 337-357. Brooks, M. D., & Frankel, K. K. (2020). Pathways for Educators to Challenge Deficit Perspectives: Adolescents' Transnational Digital Literacy Practices in the Classroom. Journal of Adolescent & Adult Literacy, 63(6), 711-714. Serpagli LP, Mensah FM. Keeping up with the digital natives: Using social media in an all-girls science classroom. School Science and Mathematics. 2021; 121: 288-298. Melo-Pfeifer, S., & Gertz, H. (2022). Transforming Disinformation on Minorities Into a Pedagogical Resource: Towards a Critical Intercultural News Literacy. Media and Communication, 10(4), 338-346 Explore: Digital citizenship lessons. (Explore lesson plans for the grade level of your choice). Watch: Dr. Nichole Pinkard on Digital Literacy: Big Thinkers	Discussion Board Engagement (Don't forget your group) In class participation Joy Oriented Literacy Pursuit due 6/7 11:59 pm EST
Week 6/4 Synch. Online	AI Literacy AI in teacher education: Unlocking new dimensions in teaching support, inclusive learning, and digital literacy Critical Artificial Intelligence literacy: A scoping review and framework synthesis Choose one: Artificial intelligence in education: challenges and opportunities for sustainable development Read questions generated from it The challenges and opportunities of Artificial Intelligence in education Sămărescu, N., Bumbac, R., Zamfiroiu, A. and Iorgulescu, C.M., 2024. Artificial Intelligence in Education: Next-Gen Teacher Perspectives. Amfiteatru Economic, 26(65), pp. 145-161. Watch a LiDA Community Talk of your choosing: [Warner Wednesday Talk] Using GenAI at Warner: Students' Experiences and Lessons Learned [Warner Wednesday Talk] AI Issues Facing K-12 Schools Today: School Leaders' Perspectives [Warner Wednesday Talk] Implications of GenAI for Education and Warner

Module 4: Towards the Pursuits Weeks 4-5
Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings	Demonstrations of Learning
Week 4 6/9 Synch. Online	Toward the Pursuit of Identity Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 3. pp. 18-37. Moje, E. B., Luke, A., Davies, B., & Street, B. (2009). Literacy and identity: Examining the metaphors in history and contemporary research. Reading Research Quarterly, 44(4), 415-437. Skerrett, A. (2012). "We hatched in this class": Repositioning of identity in and beyond a	Engagement in readings and digital content Discussion Board Engagement (Don't forget your group) In class participation Post-Mini-Unit Ideas in Asynchronous assignment

	reading classroom. The High School Journal, 95(3), 62-75. Choose 1: Identity Choice Board Watch: Smoke, A. (2017, October 27). Identity & post-secondary: a First Nations experience [Video]. TEDx Talks.	Literacy as Power: Bridging Social Justice and Critical Communication last day to submit 6/12 11:59 pm EST
Week 4 6/11 Synch. Online	Toward the Pursuit of Skills Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 4. pp. 82-99. Moje, E. B. (2015). Doing and teaching disciplinary literacy with adolescent learners: A social and cultural enterprise. Harvard Educational Review, 85(2), 254-278. Damico, J. S., Baildon, M., & Panos, A. (2020). Climate justice literacy: Stories-We-Live-By, ecolinguistics, and classroom practice. Journal of Adolescent & Adult Literacy, 63(6), 683-691. Spycher, P., Girard, V., & Moua, B. (2020). Culturally sustaining disciplinary language and literacy instruction for Hmong-American children. Theory into Practice, 59(1), 89-98. Watch: “The Write Time” a video podcast series from National Writing Project, including this episode with with Author Matt de la Peña and Literacy Educator Dr. Tracey Flores (45:43)
Week 5 6/16 Synch. Online	Toward the Pursuit of Intellect Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 5. pp. 100-115. Read 3 of 4: Malloy, J. A., Tracy, K. N., Scales, R. Q., Menickelli, K., & Scales, W. D. (2020). It’s not about being right: Developing argument through debate. Journal of Literacy Research, 52(1), 79-100.

	Metz, M. (2017). Addressing English teachers' concerns about decentering standard English. English Teaching: Practice & Critique, 16(3), 363-374. Baker-Bell, A. (2020). Dismantling anti-black linguistic racism in English language arts classrooms: Toward an anti-racist black language pedagogy. Theory into Practice, 59(1), 8-21. Noguerón-Liu, S., Shimek, C. H., & Bahlmann Bollinger, C. (2020). 'Dime de que se Trató/Tell me what it was about': Exploring emergent bilinguals' linguistic resources in reading assessments with parent participation. Journal of Early Childhood Literacy, 20(2), 411-433. Watch: Lyiscott, J. (2018, May 23). Why English class is silencing students of color [Video]. TEDx Talks. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u4dc1axRwE4 (22:04)
Week 5 6/18 Asynch. Online	Toward the Pursuit of Criticality Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 6. pp. 116-133. Luke, A. (2012). Critical literacy: Foundational notes. Theory into Practice, 51(1), 4-11. Leland, C. H., Harste, J. C., & Huber, K. R. (2005). Out of the box: Critical literacy in a first-grade classroom. Language Arts, 82(4), 257-268. Huang, S. (2019). EFL learners' critical multimodal reflections on the politics of English. TESOL Journal, 10(3), 1-17 Listen

	The Equity Experience: Critical Literacy, and Identity with K-12 Students with Dr. Kazembe Watch: “Fortifying imagination” interview of Jason Reynolds on On Being
Module 5: Pursuits into Practice Week 6
Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings	Demonstrations of Learning
Week 6 6/23 Synch. Online	Implementing Historically Responsive Texts and Lesson Plans Muhammad, G. (2020). Chapter 7-8. pp. 134-169. Johnson, N. J., Koss, M. D., & Martinez, M. (2018). Through the sliding glass door: #EmpowerTheReader. The Reading Teacher, 71(5), 569-577. Reese, D. (2018). Critical Indigenous literacies: Selecting and using children's books about Indigenous peoples. Language Arts, 95(6), 389-393. (2020, January 5). How the #DisruptTexts movement can help English teachers be more inclusive. KQED. Watch: Abolitionist Teaching and the Future of Our Schools School district bans books on Rosa Parks and Malala Mini-unit Workshop Peer review 1:1 meetings	Engagement in readings and digital content Discussion Board Engagement (Don't forget your group) In class participation Peer feedback during Class 12
Module 6: Making Commitments Week 6

Class/Date	Class Focus & Readings	Demonstrations of Learning
Week 6 6/25 Sych. Online	Muhammad, G. (2020) Cultivating Genius. Afterward. pp. 170-171. Kinloch, V., Penn, C., & Burkhard, T. (2020). Black lives matter: Storying, identities, and counternarratives. Journal of Literacy Research, 52(4), 382-405. Shih-en Leu, G. (2020). My life the way I see it: Reconstructing minoritized youth with disabilities as critical thinkers. Journal of Adolescent & Adult Literacy, 64(2), 181-190. Wiseman, A. M., Vehabovic, N., & Jones, J. S. (2019). Intersections of race and bullying in children's literature: Transitions, racism, and counternarratives. Early Childhood Education Journal, 47(4), 465-474. Watch: ☐ Otter & Veronica. (2015, September 5). "Letter to my future white son" [Video]. Youth Speaks. (3:41) https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ozBMFYnunrI Mini-Unit Presentations During your presentations, you will walk us through your mini-units and answer the following questions at the conclusion 1. What was your inspiration for creating this mini-unit 2. How does your mini-unit address social injustices in society? 3. What did you learn about yourself during the creation of your mini-unit Reflect/Commit/Celebrate Preamble Writing: What are we as historically-culturally responsive educators committed to?	Engagement in readings and digital content Discussion Board Engagement A & B Preamble In class participation Mini-Unit In-class Presentations Mini-Unit Due July 5th 11:59 pm

	Writing Prompt: What transformations in your thinking happened for you this semester and how will that impact how you will move forward in your practice?
--	---	--